Editorial Review

From School Library Journal

Kindergarten-Grade 4 A rollicking ride for Curly Kidd and young listeners alike. As Curly prepares to ride the "meanest bull in the whole United States," he explains to his proud but worried child how he overcomes his fear: he thinks about places he'd like to see. Lucky Kidd calls encouragement to dad and alleviates fears by chanting cities and states. The story, told in dialogue, begs to be read aloud. The rhythm, rhyme and timing of the place names are in perfect harmony, and story hour participants will soon be chanting "Yah! Hoo! KAL- ama- ZOO /Tic! Tac! Toe! I-da- HO" along with Lucky. Rand's strokes are bold and strong, and there's a kind of frenetic activity that is perfectly captured in words and pictures. The double-page spreads are filled with action and energy: cowboys on the boxes, rodeo clowns on the alert, the cantankerous bull twisting and bucking with Curly Kidd on his back. Dust, dirt and grit fly. It all takes place under the wide expanse of a glorious blue sky that is as warm as the love and caring found in this exuberant story. Trev Jones, "School Library Journal"

"The double-page spreads are filled with action and energy-- cowboys on the boxes, rodeo clowns on the alert, the cantankerous bull twisting and bucking with Curly Kidd on his back. Dust, dirt, and grit fly. It all takes place under the wide expanse of a glorious blue sky that is as warm as the love and caring found in this exuberant story."--School Library Journal

"A young rodeo fan carries on a nervous dialogue with Dad, a champion performer who is about to board the back of White Dynamite, 'the meanest bull in the whole United States.'...Rand's pictures are vigorous and dynamic, easily conveying all the power and danger pent up in the bull."--Booklist

"A fine addition to any picture-book collection."--Kirkus Reviews

About the Author

Bill Martin, Jr. (1916-2004) was an elementary-school principal, teacher, writer, and poet. His more than 300 books, among them the bestselling classics Brown Bear, Brown Bear, What Do You See?; Polar Bear, Polar Bear, What Do You Hear?; Panda Bear, Panda Bear, What Do You See?; and Chicka Chicka Boom Boom, are a testament to his ability to speak directly to children. Martin held a doctoral degree in early childhood education. Born in Kansas, he worked as an elementary-school principal in Chicago before moving to New York City, where he worked in publishing developing innovative reading programs for schools. After several years, he devoted himself full-time to writing his children's books. He lived in New York until 1993, when he moved to Texas. He lived in the east Texas woods, near the town of Commerce, until he passed away in 2004.
